Working as a customer service specialist

The main purpose of a customer service specialist is to be a 'professional' for direct customer support within all sectors and organisation types. You are an advocate of customer service who acts as a referral point for dealing with more complex or technical requests, complaints, and queries from customers. You are often an escalation point for complicated or ongoing problems. As an expert in your organisation's products and/or services, you share knowledge with your wider team and colleagues. You gather and analyse data and customers' information that influences change and improvements in service, utilising both organisational and generic IT systems to carry out your role with an awareness of other digital technologies. This could be in many types of environment including contact centres, retail, webchat, service industry or any customer service point.

The programme's structure

Your apprentice will be placed in a customer service specialist role over a minimum of 15 months during which they will be supported while on-programme by their tutor. Their tutor will review the progress of the apprentice during the 15 months against the standard to ensure they are prepared for the end-point assessment.
