Working in operations/departmental management

Operations management involves designing and controlling the process of production and redesigning business operations for production of goods or services. It involves ensuring that business's operations are efficient and effective in terms of meeting customers' requirements. An operations/departmental manager is someone who manages teams and/or projects, and achieves operational or departmental goals and objectives, as part of the delivery of an organisation's strategy.

The programme's structure

Apprentices will be placed in a management role over a minimum of 2 and a half years during which they will be supported while on-programme by their tutor. Their tutor will review the progress of the apprentice against the standard to ensure they are prepared for the end-point assessment.
